How to Approach Your Leads

Speed-to-Lead

The most important follow-up item related to any lead is the speed at which you make first contact with the client. It is critical to call back every lead immediately. Internet customers anticipate instant results, and failure to contact them right away will diminish your appointment rate.

CRM & Phone Integration, Pop-ups, Click-to-Dial

Connect with homeowners within 30 seconds

Calling immediately improves contact rate by 391%

The party that makes first contact can increase their chances of sale by 80%

Staffing, Availability & Calling Logic

---

Peak calling times are 8am-noon & after 5pm

LIFO + waterfall start/stop times + open availability

1 agent can effectively work 20 new leads/day

Other Touch Points

50% of homeowners prefer to use text & email when communicating with their contractor

Make sure to set up auto-nurture campaigns (emails, texts, etc.)

Separate Inbound vs. Outbound Teams

Outbounding requires soft sales skills

Performance-based agent incentivization — appointment and demo conversions

Initial Contact

✓ An intro similar to the following is ideal:

Rep: Hi Jane, this is John with ABC Home Improvement. I received the info you submitted online. Were you looking to replace your windows, siding or roof?

Homeowner: We were thinking about replacing our windows.

Rep: Okay, great. Well, we are the experts in replacement windows and would love to come out to your home and give you a no-hassle, free estimate free estimate. Would you prefer to meet in the morning, afternoon, or evening?

✓ Internet Follow-Up

Multiple forms of communication are essential to having a high contact rate. Try to contact the consumer via email to set up an appointment or follow-up call. Make sure to provide the time of your appointment or suggest times that may work if you are still trying to make the first contact.

✓ Re-Marketing to Consumers

Many of our existing clients have found success in re-marketing to consumers. Setting up follow-up calls and/or emails in 30, 60, and 90-day increments will often convert previously non-contact leads into new customers.

Hi Jane,

I received the info you submitted online to replace your windows. We would love to speak with you about your project and give you a free estimate.

We have some exciting offers this fall and would love to share them with you!

Please give us a call at (503) 555-1234. We are excited to hear from you and look forward to helping you with your project.

Regards, John Doe

✓ Objection Handling Understanding Your Homeowners

“I never put in a request”

“Then I am sorry to bother you and will take your name off our list, but since I have you on the phone, we are having a special right now on [ABC]... would you like to get an appointment scheduled for a free estimate?”

“I was just shopping... I only want quotes over the phone.”

“I appreciate that... I’m the same way. But giving you an estimate without seeing the [XYZ] would be like diagnosing an illness without seeing a doctor; it is a guess and will likely be wrong. We have trained professionals who are friendly, fast, and intelligent. What time on Thursday would be good for someone to come out and give you a free estimate: 2pm or 5pm?”

“I have already received numerous calls; I’m not interested in speaking to anyone else.”

“I completely understand, what differentiates us is [XYZ], and we are currently running a special in your area on [ABC]... we’re all excited about earning your business and studies show that meeting with at least 3 contractors about your project gives you the best deal.”

Dig in

- Listen, review, and share call recordings — When done right these are great teaching opportunities.
- Review agent ready time daily.

✓ Canvassing

Canvassing is an important part of any contractor's marketing arm. Many of our existing clients have found success in canvassing when they head out to an appointment as well as when they start and finish a project. We recommend canvassing the neighborhoods of any appointment you set and especially before you begin and after you finish a project.

✓ Tracking the Leads & Providing Back-End Data

It is critical that you track every lead you purchase and have the ability to report on all the metrics. Our Client Service Dashboard makes it easy to track your leads. Just go to the "View Your Leads" tab and you can view all your lead information. If necessary, we can provide you with a simple spreadsheet for you to track all the leads you receive.

The back-end data we typically look at includes:

- Leads Paid For
- Appointments Set
- Demos (written proposals/estimates given)
- Sales
- Gross Revenue

2. Select which status your lead is in!

Not only will it be beneficial for you in evaluating your program at any point in time, but this will help your account manager analyze your campaign.

Your account manager will be able to make recommendations on how to plan your lead flow for the next month.

3. Enter in the specific details of that estimate, appointment, or sale!

4. Update your comment!

✓ Full Download

1. To review all lead details for a particular month, click on the Full Download tab within the View Your Leads tab.
2. Select the specific month you would like to see the leads for and click Download.
3. Next, an excel spreadsheet will pop up displaying all the leads you have received for that month. It will include the lead key ID# (data capture key), lead date, contact information, and service the lead came in for. This option allows you to organize your leads more efficiently.

The screenshot shows the QuinStreet Client Services dashboard. The top navigation bar includes 'Home', 'View Your Leads', 'Manage Account', and 'Support'. The 'View Your Leads' tab is active, and the 'Full Download' sub-tab is selected. Below the navigation bar, the 'Full Lead Download' section contains a 'Month' dropdown menu and a 'Download' button. The dropdown menu is open, showing a list of months from July 2011 to November 2011. The 'Download' button is circled in orange.
